

Project Veritas

PRODUCTION DIRECTOR

Project Veritas, the premier undercover video content producer, is adding to the leadership of its production department. We currently are hiring for the position of Production Director, based in our Westchester County, New York headquarters. The Production Director will work closely with the Veritas leadership team. The person hired will storyboard, plan, produce and edit videos to effectively tell the stories resulting from the gathering of content by Veritas undercover journalists. This requires creative, storytelling and scripting skills.

The successful candidate will have a broad and thorough understanding of videography, communication and marketing principles, strategies and tactics as they relate to visual communications; comprehensive technical knowledge; strong aesthetic and editorial sensibilities; the ability to work effectively with collaborators from a wide range of departments and programs; strong skills in managing projects and people.

A commitment to the Project Veritas mission is an absolute requirement. Please carefully review our website, published stories and interviews with our founder and CEO, James O'Keefe to become familiar with the elements of our mission.

The ability to find innovative solutions and a positive attitude are also required. The successful candidate will demonstrate a high level of initiative, independence, and good judgment. Anticipation of department needs and ability to plan is required. Ideally, the successful candidate will have news production or other journalism-related experience and have worked in a fast-paced, deadline - oriented organization.